

New Module: Two days, dedicated to B-to-B marketing!

Introduction to Strategic Marketing for Business to Business (B2B), Business to Business to Consumer (B2B2C) & Business to Employee (B2E) Ecosystems

Module objective and content

Framing and understanding the fundamentals of B2B, B2B2C, B2E strategic marketing and its implication in your strategic & operational choices will broaden your vision on the way to generate & manage the value in your current or future businesses.

These two days aim to understand how to apply and adapt the fundamentals of strategic & operational marketing when you address different stakeholders in complex ecosystems.

Teaching method

The guiding principle of each day is divided into two parts:

- Introduction of methods & frameworks
- Case management & practices

The modules are based on real cases and some parts will be co-animated with external speaker(s)

Topics covered

DAY 1

Setting Value Propositions for Multi-Stakeholders.

- > Framing complex ecosystems
- > Aligning & building multi-stakeholder value proposition(s) & positioning
- > Case management

DAY 2

From strategy to operations

- > Organizational design
- > Go to market principles ("The Cold Start Problem")
- > Case management
